Quotes

"I really enjoyed the poetry café you did last week. The poems were so easy to hear, and underneath that was so much craft and intelligence - beautifully and cleverly constructed. You performed them so well, everyone enjoyed them." Susie Gibson, Salisbury Poetry Café

"I liked the one with all the rhyming" John Hegley

"I laughed so much I nearly burst my spleen!" audience member, A F Harrold's Big Birthday Bash

'Truly the King of Bristol Poetry Festival' Glenn Carmichael, The Poetry Slam

About DULL

'...a very moving piece ... a very creative and intelligent approach [that] opens it out into something additional to the autobiographical ... an engaging, moving and provocative piece ... ' Rosemary Harris, author and playwright

'... very vital in it's actuality of daily life ... a feeling of being close to the edge ... and yet surviving, just. ... a real life examination of real life ... Your whole process is fresh and provides much food for thought ...' Sarah Tremlett, Liberated Words poetry films

'I really love this. It's strange and stark and unexpectedly moving. The words are precise and beautiful. Or not beautiful, but somehow beautiful in their collective strength. I think you have made something special.' Nathan Filer, creative writing tutor, Costa Award winner

Moving and beautiful and genuine. By far the most interesting and unusual and innovative and moving poetry event I've been to in a very long time. A really unusual piece of work. An intense intimate thing.' Dr Rosy Carrick, poet, writer, translator

'... beautiful and one of the most honest pieces of art I have witnessed.' Dave Hubble, poet, artist and art blogger

'I'm a complete illiterate when it comes to poetry, I know nothing about poetry, I don't go and see poetry, don't read it, it's all a completely new world to me, but I found that completely engrossing and I thoroughly enjoyed it.' Deborah Knight, audience member

'... brilliant, engrossing, moving and beautifully put together' Ricky Tart, poet, performer

'Devastatingly honest' Dillon Jaxx, poet

'I really enjoyed the rawness, the humour and the democracy of form ... Brave but smart too.' Ni All, writer

About Notes on Becoming a Ghost

'I absolutely loved your event.'

Dr Rosy Carrick. Poet, writer, translator

'Your video is incredibly powerful and beautiful.'

John Osborne. Writer, radio presenter

'...so gorgeous. really moving, beautifully shot.'

Max Lindsay. Theatre Director

'Your poetry sharing last night was really, really beautiful.'

Paul Hewitt. Playwright, filmmaker

'I was serious about how good it was (I really don't tend to say stuff like that unless I mean it)'

Helen Seymour. poet and playwright

'I loved it, there's so much to mull over and digest. I found it really moving.'

Dillon Jaxx. Poet

'... really enjoyed it, such a powerful way of presenting your work!'

Gavin Urie. Poet

'Thanks so much, that was moving and full of great meaningful and thought provoking statements. Loved it.'

Una Chadwick. Audience member
